Nothing Certain as to the Outlook for the St. Asaph Meeting.

Plenty of Rorses at the Two Virginia Trucks and the Weather Keeps Suitable for Encing-Columbia Athletic Club Is Favorite Over Georgetown for Thunksgiving Day,

On the surlace there appears a great deal of uncertainty as to the outlook for any further racing at the St. Asaph track after next Priday, when the regularly licensed meeting will end. There has been a difference of will end. There has been a dillarence of opinion among the officials of the Virginia following the meeting and for this reason all sorts of rumors have been allout. It is well understood the horse owners who eigned the petition asking for an extension of the meeting tion asking for an extension of the meeting were given assurance that such would be to do better work. White the St. Asaph officials are reticent as While the St. Asaph officials are reticent as to their plane, it is pretty safe to expect a continuage of raging during Dacember. The weather has been so plonsent that many of the horsenen feel encouraged to change their planed going to New Orieans and remain here provided the sport goes on. Then Washington is so much neares feet for than New Orieans that the Eastern racegoons will have an opportunity to shift their homes without much less of time or money. It was stated Saturday the local club people would manoniums their decision on the subject of further racing in a day or so. ther racing in a day or so.

During all the painver about the St. Asaph meeting, the racing goes merrily on at the Alexander feland course, with hig crowse, pienty of betting, and good racing. There does not appear to be any prospect of a compromise between the two tracks, to petitier professes to care a fig about the other. fig about the other.

Guite a near little trick was played one day last week on a prominent Washingtonian who is only an obsistonal visitor to the races. He met several friends at St. Asaph the day the horse Mekee was an odds on favorite for the horse Mokee was an odds on favorite for the two-year-old rate. The gentleman expressed to his friends a desire for a tip, and one of the friends said. "Give me $2 and I will iday if on McKee for a place; its $3 to 1." The two apput was forthcoming, and the friend procured an old ricket and by a little rubbleg and marking succeeded in making it appear as if he had secured a folcet calling for 6 to 2 McKee a place. It was a cruel toke as McKee a place. As if he had secured a trace crane poke as Mo-Lee was barried for the place, and after the house had won the Washington run smiles a a broad grin and quickly straight to the 1800-males's stand with the ticket held securely in the hand. He never tumbed to the heax until the casher with a cruel glitter in his eye threw the bit of pasteboard at the gen-tieman and with a Wille Soow im, ha! said: "Whateher givin us." The faces of his friends made the whole thing clear to him and now he plays his own money.
